24 The council goes over the minutes page by page, no comments are made. Kemper confirms the minutes. Senchi 25 asks the technical chair to go over the pro memorie at some time in the near future to refresh everyone's 26 memory. Kemper proposes to create a routine where they do so at least once a month, for example: every first 27 PV of the month.

5. Updates (MS Teams)

28 OPR has shared its update in Teams. Kemper notes that the CSR is supporting a #nietmijnschuld protest and 29 proposes for the FSR to do the same. Malash proposes to start a focus group focused on student engagement, 30 they will hold monthly meetings on the subject and is open to everyone who is interested from the council.
31 She will share a link to a group chat and plans on starting the meetings this month.

5.1. Student Member fDB/CoH/GSH

32 Vroom notes that the council should consider getting Weerman a gift, considering he will be replaced as 33 dean soon. Moreover, she notes that, together with Pas and Padberg, she has discussed the issue of poor 34 safety measurements during the exams before the Christmas break (in relation to the recent lockdown).
35 Vroom explains that the UvA had promised its students a safe environment for their exams; a promise the 36 students trusted. Vroom is disappointed to say this trust might have been abused by the university,
37 considering the limited measures that were taken to guarantee the student's safety. Kemper has discussed
38 this issue with the CSR as well and notes that Facility Services has shared a list of the measures that were 39 taken to create a safe environment. Using this list, Facility services denies the assumption that there weren't 40 enough precautions taken. According to Facility Services there were no issues and that only two small 41 clusters of infection have been identified. However, students had a completely different experience than 42 the image that Facility Services is trying to paint. Therefore, Kemper suggests collecting students'

1 testimonies and to continue discussing the matter. Vroom shares a picture of the situation at one of the 2 exam locations during the lockdown. The council responds incredulously to the lack of measurements that 3 are apparent from the image. Kemper fears that Facility Services might turn this into a debate of we-said,
4 they-said. Regardless, the council and Vroom agree that the university doesn't take its students' health
5 seriously. They will continue to discuss the topic in the working groups and the faculty and/or central level.
6 Svendsen and Ballak also believe that turning to the media might help to make the university's 7 administration listen, as well as setting up a formal letter. Kemper and Svendsen will set up an action plan
8 before the next PV [ACTION POINT].

6. Announcements

9 Vroom and Malash will leave the meeting earlier; Malash mandates Kemper in her absence. Hondtong, Hall
10 Allen, Mars and Ouwehand are currently absent.

7. Deciding: BA Cultuurwetenschappen Language Change

11 Kemper indicates that after the lengthy discussion they had on the topic at OV, they still disapprove of the 12 language change. The current stance of the OC Cultuurwetenschappen is unclear, and the file holders believe 13 that the committee should be asked to share their opinion on the matter first. Moreover, per the FSR's request,
14 the dean has contacted the NVAO to check whether the change would require a Toets Nieuwe Opleiding (TNO)
15 Though the file holders believed the change of the programme would lead to new eindtermen [attainment
16 targets, transl.], the NVAO seems to disagree which makes the council's argument for the necessity of a TNO null
17 and void. Furthermore, the file holders believe the board's motivation for the language change is insufficient, 18 noting that it is focused on increasing student numbers instead of substance – and even then, focused only on 19 increasing student numbers, the argumentation is still lacking.

20 The OR has indicated that they won't be sharing a negative or positive stance but will only issue words of advice.
21 They agree with the FSR that the board's reasoning is mostly financial instead of substantive, though they also 22 feel that without innovation the programme will cease to exist. Yet, they disagree with the FSR's notion that the 23 OC should be offered the chance to re-formulate a stance.

24 Verveer comments that it is hard to formulate a council stance, without solid input from the OC. Kemper adds 25 that the council generally follows the programme committee's lead, but without a clear stance from 26 Cultuurwetenschappen that is currently impossible. The OC's chair is the only one communicating with the 27 council, though his voice belongs to a minority among his peers. Kemper and Piraianu feel that presenting the 28 OC with an advice request would force the committee to formulate a stance. Ballak wonders whether the council 29 should reach out to the Cultuurwetenschappen students, for instance, via email or a survey to gauge their 30 opinion. Senchi offers for the council to get in contact with the students by attending some of their (online)
31 classes; Piraianu proposes to possibly join their WhatsApp-group.

32 The three main arguments for dissenting to the change are: a lack of input from the OC, poor motivation by the 33 board, unethical growth of the university.

34
35 Vroom leaves the meeting

36 Hondtong joins the meeting

37
38 Kemper wonders whether these arguments are valid enough to substantiate dissent. Piraianu feels the current 39 arguments are too subjective to warrant dissent. Moreover, he questions whether it is worth it to dissent,
40 referring to the possibility of the programme ceasing to exist. Van Eck stresses that the consent letter plays a 41 vital part in the path leading to Humanities in Context (HiC); he feels students should be informed and involved

1 regarding this topic. Furthermore, Van Eck believes the current argumentation is strong enough and that they 2 should ensure the council has an emergency break in place for HiC.

3

5 Malash leaves the meeting

6
7 Hondtong repeats some of the arguments already made by Kemper (the board's lacking financial motivation 8 instead of an academic one). OPR has discussed the topic more thoroughly and, even though they disapprove of 9 a language change, they would be open to programme change (in Dutch). They believe the council should dissent
10 now and if the board asks what options the council is willing to explore that they mention the idea of a Dutch 11 curriculum change. Piraianu clarifies that the focus would then be shifted towards attracting more Dutch 12 students instead of international ones. Ballak feels the letter should include that the council is willing to help
13 solve the issues at Cultuurwetenschappen but that they simply disagree with the board's current approach. The 14 DB-members will inform the board of the council stance during their TTO and they will set up an email vote so 15 the letter can be sent out next week.

8. OER

16 Because the council doesn't receive a formal consent request, the OER process, with its so called 17 deurendichtbijeenkoms [closed doors meeting, transl.] is unlawful. The council does receive an advice request
18 for OER B, so it baffles the council they don't receive a consent request for OER A. The council has been advised 19 by experts that the process is unlawful and the FSR could consider getting legal aid. Currently, Ballak feels 20 there are two options: 1) retracting all previous OERs, 2) working on improving the procedure and making it
21 lawful. Senchi notes to make sure all agreements are written down not only discussed informally in meetings 22 and Kemper wonders whether it would be worth it to take this to court. The council will discuss the issue at 23 TTO and will ask for it to be discussed during a formal meeting (OV or other), perhaps with the new dean 24 instead of the current one.

9. Wvttk (any other business)

25 Piraianu notes that the evaluations are coming up with the trust person and (vice)chair; he will send out a 26 Google document which details all the necessary information as well as a sign-up sheet.

9.1. Letter Medicine Faculty

27 The medicine faculty council sent out a letter to formally condemn the CSR chair's actions. Kemper
28 proposes to vote on co-signing the letter next week. Van Eck and Piraianu are unaware of the exact context
29 and situation that are at the root of this condemnation, though Piraianu has read the chair's formal apology.
30 Kemper gives a brief explanation of the chair's mistreatment of confidentiality but refers them to the sender
31 of the letter if they want more details. Hondtong asks Kemper, considering she experienced the situation
32 from up close, whether she believes letter is righteous, Kemper believes the letter is warranted.
33 The council will vote on co-signing next week, which will give the councillors ample time to gather the 34 necessary information to cast a well-informed vote.

9.2. Use of The Council Office

35 Kemper asks the council for permission to use the council as a base for the preparations of a 36 #nietmijnschuld protest, the councillors have no objections. Moreover, she urges everyone to pick up their 37 Christmas packages.
